

Welcome to the Workshops of the KABK

Starting your studies at the Royal Academy of Art marks the beginning of an exciting period of exploration and growth. As a first-year student, you will encounter new methods, materials, and ways of thinking that will help shape your artistic practice.

At the center of your learning are the Workshops, spaces where ideas take form and experimentation is encouraged. From bookbinding and printmaking to metal, textiles, photography, and digital media, the workshops provide opportunities to explore different techniques, develop your creative skills, and engage thoughtfully with the materials you use. Sustainability is an important focus here: students are encouraged to work responsibly, consider the environmental impact of their projects, and find ways to reduce waste through reuse, recycling, and careful material choices.
